

FISAE Newsletter

57 2021
19.09.2021

Dear friends of ex libris
Here comes a message from Italy:

Liebe Exlibrisfreunde
Hier kommt eine Nachricht aus Italien:

Chers amis d'ex libris
Voici un message de l'Italie :

Cari amici di ex libris
Arriva un messaggio dall'Italia:

Estimados amigos de ex libris
Aquí llega un mensaje de Italia:

Дорогие друзья ex libris
Пришло сообщение из Италии:

尊敬の前図書館的朋友们
这里有一个来自意大利的消息。

EX LIBRISの皆様へ
イタリアからのメッセージです。

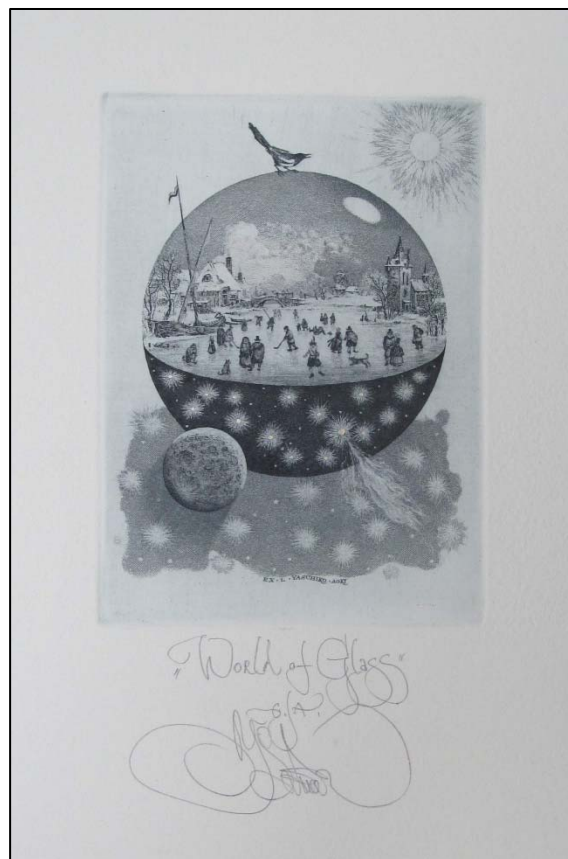

Good morning,
At least I am sending you a little preview of the exhibition "Wind from the East", a joint exhibition of 23 artists from Belarus, Russia and Ukraine that will opened on 15th October, during the meeting of Bodio Lomnago (it will be the first event of the meeting).

The exhibition is made up of about 130 works.

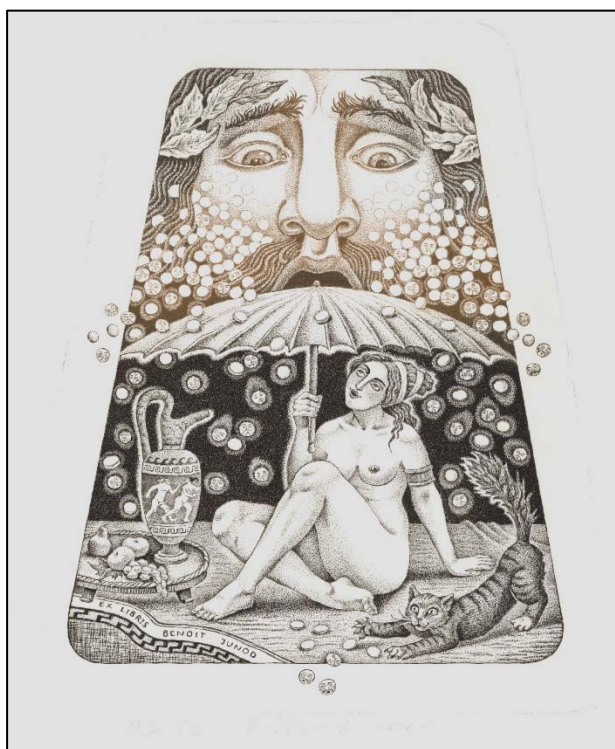

Marco

Jury Jakovenko (Belarus)

Konstantin Kalynovych (Ukraine)

Irina Kozub (Russia)

Yuriy Nozdrin (Russia)

This is a reproduction of the painting 'Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden' by William Blake. The scene is set in a lush, arched garden. Adam, a winged figure with a halo, is kneeling and covering Eve with a blue cloth. Eve is reclining on the grass, looking up at him. The background features a large tree and distant mountains under a blue sky.

XOTARIS

$$\frac{x_1}{x_0}$$

28.02.19

0345

019 GV

Протимиш В. 2013

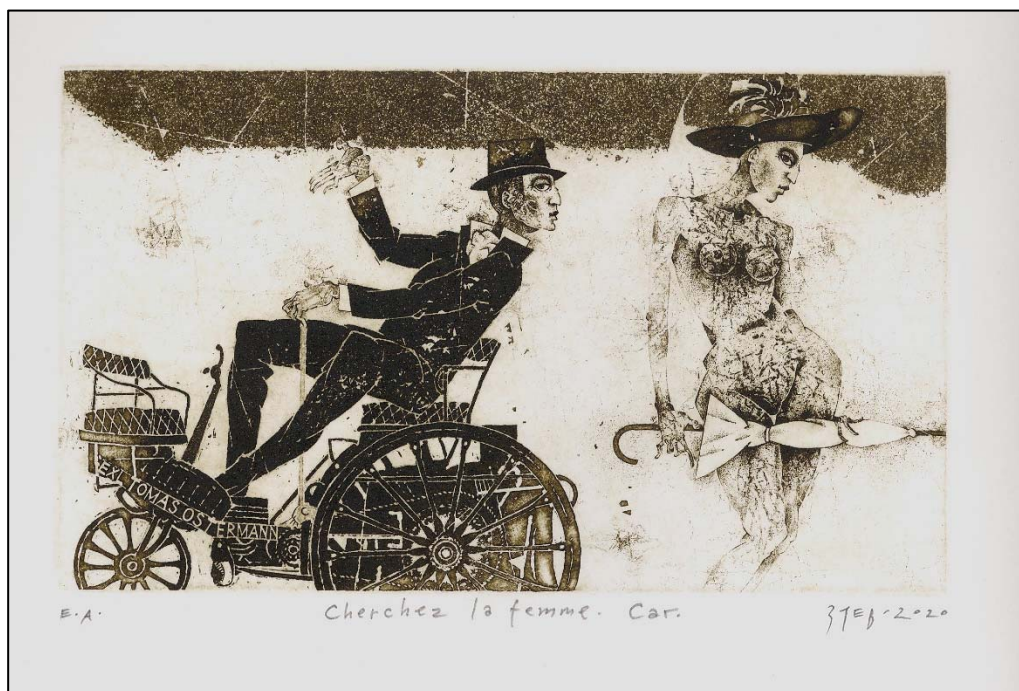

A vibrant, folk-art style illustration. In the center, a bearded man with a red tunic and white shawl stands triumphantly, holding a whip aloft in his right hand. He is looking down at a green, winged, and horned figure who is cowering or being trampled. To the left, a crowd of people is visible, some looking up in awe or fear. The background is filled with stylized clouds, a large bright sun, and a small building at the bottom. The overall composition is dynamic and expressive, with a rich color palette of reds, greens, yellows, and purples.

2020

Vladimir Vereschagin (Russia)

Ulyana Turchenko (Ukraine)

Vladimir Zuev (Russia)

FISAE Newsletter

Klaus Rödel, Nordre Skanse 6, DK 9900 Frederikshavn,

 +45 2178 8992 – E-mail: klaus@roedel.dk
